NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican National Convention will meet in Chicago, Ill., on Tuesday, June 3d, 1884, at 12 o'clock noon, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for president and vice president at the next election. The republican electors of the several states, and all other voters, without regard to past political difference, who are in favor of the elevating and dignifying of American labor, extending and protecting home industry, giving free popular education of the masses of the people, securing free suffrage and an honest counting of ballots, effectually protecting all human rights in every section of our common country, and who desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the land by securing a national government pledged to these objects and principles, are cordially invited to send for each state four delegates at large, and from each congressional district two delegates.

D. M. SABIN, Chairman.,
JOHN A. MARTIN, Secretary.

The tariff question has the democratic party by the nose.

The greatest living issue in the democratic party is Tilden, and he can speak only in a whisper.

There seems to be a probability that the prayer of the democratic party may be answered, and that Blaine will be nominated.

Mr. C. H. McCormick, of Chicago, who died in that city on Tuesday, left an estate worth $15,000,000, which he made from the sale of his reaper and mower.

The failure of the firm of Grant & Ward, has made General Grant perfectly solid in the senate. The bill to place him on the retired list with full pay of rank of general, passed unanimously. This will give him an annual income of $17,500 in addition to the $15,000 for the presidential fund.

The business men of New York, irrespective of party, will soon hold a public meeting to express their approval of President Arthur's administration, and also to express their wish that he may be nominated at Chicago. The time and place of meeting has not been named as yet.

Over in Buffalo, there is a strong leading for Arthur, which seems to be the only place in the United States, according to the Blaine papers, that the man from Maine hasn't carried by storm. Of 106 business men in that city, interviewed on presidential preferences, seventy-seven favored the renomination of President Arthur, seventeen the nomination of Edmunds, and one was for Blaine.

In 1879, the Rev. S. D. Hinman was removed from his missionary field of labor by Bishop Hare. The good bishop charged that Mr. Hinman had given too much attention to the good-looking young squaws of Dakota, at the expense of his missionary duties. Mr. Hinman took the charge as a gross libel and sued the bishop for defamation of character and received a judgment of $10,000. The bishop thought the judgment excessive and appeal to the supreme court of Pennsylvania. The court was rather inclined to the opinion that $10,000 was a little too much for Mr. Hinman's loss of character, but the jury seemed so honest and intelligent that the judgment was allowed to stand against the bishop.

Over two-thirds of the failures in this country are the results of rampant greed. Men with millions are not satisfied, and want millions more, and they risk all they have and adopt questionable means that they may grasp more wealth. There are comparatively few legitimate failures in the country. All the bankers and brokers that have been carried to financial ruin, have been carried there because their greed and dishonesty led them to it. This statement will also apply to many mercantile failures. When a firm begins to over-reach, when it contracts debts that it has no reasonable hope of paying, a depression of business soon carries the firm under. Conservative business men, whose judgment is better than capital, never fail. They go through all sort of financial reverses without the loss of reputation and without sinking their capital. Hard times, of course, once in a while, will compel an honest man to compromise with his creditors, but these cases were rare compared with the failures that are the immediate result of dishonesty and greed.

BLAINE AND HIS CHANCES.

The New York Evening Post, which is the organ of a very independent type of voters, serves fair notice that if Mr. Blaine is nominated he will be defeated. It declares that he cannot carry New York or Massachusetts. He is obnoxious to a large element of the party in both those states.—Madison Democrat.

A short time ago the editor of the Gazette wrote to one of the most prominent and best informed republican leaders in the west, and asked for information regarding the probable chances of Mr Blaine in case he were nominated at Chicago; and he also asked whether or not there was a reasonable assurance that General Sherman would accept the nomination if it were tendered him. The Gazette is not at liberty to use the name of the gentleman who so kindly and fully answered the questions propounded to him, but the paper is permitted to print some of the facts and opinions contained in the answer.

On one point he says: "Sherman has been my candidate, but the general tells me personally that it is of no use to talk about him. He will not accept under any circumstances and will decline if nominated." Then, on another point: "I shall represent what I believe to be the decided wishes of a large majority of the republicans of the west and of the whole country, and after a very careful consideration of the question and consulting the best judgment I could reach, I have come to the conclusion that Blaine is the strongest man we can nominate, and that we can certainly elect him Logan et al. have Blaine for their second choice. The south will fall into line for Blaine. He is the coming man, and all the political fiends this side of hell can't defeat him."

After this burst of enthusiasm for the Plumed Knight, the gentleman goes on to say: "It is practically conceded both east and west, that neither Edmunds nor Arthur can be nominated, neither could they be elected; and the boy from Chicago is nowhere in the race. Illinois will not touch Lincoln, so says Judge David Davis, and Burton C. Cook, chairman of the Illinois delegation to the national republican convention. Judge Davis tells me that Blaine is the only man who can be elected without New York, and that he can carry that state if any republican can. Judge Davis said further that the republicans could not afford this time to ignore the emphatic expression for Blaine all over the country, and the imperative demand for his nomination from the masses of the party upon whom we must rely for votes."

Without endorsing all the statements made in the above quotations, the Gazette submits them as a full answer to the opinions of the New York Post, and the Springfield Republican, which are cranky "independent" papers, and which are only republican in the barest political weather and when it best subserves their personal interests.

CRIME IN CHICAGO.

An Alderman Shot Because He Wouldn't Shake Hands.

Probably Fatal Result of an Election Quarrel—The Would-Be Murderer Arrested—His Victim's Condition.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night, Alderman Gaynor, of the Ninth ward, walked out of the saloon kept by Frank McIntyre, at 87 South Halsted street, and in company with McIntyre, turned his steps south until they reached the saloon formerly owned by John Foley, the deceased alderman, whose successor was elected Tuesday. In front of the second saloon Gaynor turned to his friend and said: "Lets go in here and get a drink." As they passed by the screen they met James Dacey, an old supporter of Alderman Gaynor, but there had been trouble between them for a few days. Some words passed between them, and then the alderman invited Dacey and the two other men outside of the bar to take a drink with him. As he extended the invitation Dacey, a Mr. J. G. Bellow, and the third stranger stopped up to the bar. The alderman threw his left arm over the bar, and as he faced toward the west, Dacey stopped up beside him and fired a revolver. The alderman dropped to the floor, and then there was the wildest excitement on all sides. Tom Higgins, who was in charge of the saloon, dispatched a messenger for the police, closed the front door against the crowd, and aided by McIntyre and people inside carried the wounded alderman into the back room of the saloon. Soon the street in front of the place was filled with excited people, and it was with difficulty that the police could force their way to the door of the place. McIntyre and the others had taken the pistol away from Dacey and he was held in custody until the police arrived. He was then placed in the patrol wagon and taken to the Desplaines street station.

By this time the physicians had arrived at the saloon and had made a hurried examination of the wounded man. They found a large bullet wound just on a line with the top of the right ear and straight to the right of the center of the back of the head. It was evident that the bullet had penetrated the skull, and the doctors at once advised that the wounded man be removed to his home. Again the police patrol wagon was summoned, and the wounded politician, carefully wrapped in blankets and with his head bandaged, was placed upon a stretcher and carried out of the saloon through a hushed crowd of his constituents and placed in the wagon. Thence he was carefully transported to his home over his saloon at the corner of Adams and Canal streets. Additional medical aid was summoned to his side, and the terrible task of searching for the bullet began.

At first all efforts to learn the facts in regard to the shooting were fruitless, owing to the intense excitement. At length Mr. J. G. Bellow was found, and was able to give some definite statements. His review of the case, as recited to a reporter, is substantially as follows: "I was just inside the saloon as Mike"—meaning Mr. Gaynor—"and McIntyre entered. Dacey was also present, and as the other two men entered the place, he walked up to them. The alderman asked him up to take a drink and made the invitation general. After the invitation he and said: 'Come and have a drink, Jim; the election is over, and it's only a political row anyway.' Dacey walked up and wanted Gaynor to shake hands with him. The alderman did not do this for some reason of his own, and McIntyre made some remark, in substance that Alderman Gaynor would not shake hands with such as Dacey. Gaynor paid no further attention to either of the men, but turned to the bar and throwing his hand across it, quietly ordered the drinks for all hands. Then Dacey stepped behind him, as if to face the bar, and the shot followed in an instant. After that you know as much about the matter as I do, for everything was lost in the hurry and excitement."

Mr. McIntyre was likewise seen, but he is on the most intimate terms with Mr. Gaynor, and was not able to say anything more than that the shooting was almost wholly unprovoked, and that Dacey's drunken condition and his spite against the alderman were the real causes of the trouble.

The shooting was the result of bad blood between the men, which arose from the fact that that they supported different candidates in the election. Gaynor's man was successful, and Dacey was heard to threaten both Bowler and Gaynor at different times, saying that he was against both of them, and would have the blood of one or the other. Several people had warned the policeman, and it appears that Mr. Gaynor had likewise received some intimation of Dacey's spite. He met the man in front of McIntyre's saloon Sunday or Monday, and went into the place and back of the end of the bar, in order, as he himself said, to avoid having any quarrel with him.

It was 12:30 o'clock when the physicians finally left the bedside of the wounded man. They had been looking for the ball for over an hour and had failed to find it. They were compelled to desist with the impression that the ball had entered the skull in a downward direction and had penetrated the brain. One of the doctors who gave this information volunteered the opinion that there was about one chance in a dozen of his recovery. At 1:30 he was still resting easily and no one could predict the result of the end.

Alderman Michael Gaynor is a native of County Meath, Ireland, but came to Chicago in his early childhood. His parents first settled in Milwaukee but subsequently came to this city. In his earlier days Mr. Gaynor was a hackman in the city, but shortly after the fire he abandoned that vocation for saloon-keeping, and opened the place he now owns and conducts at the corner of Canal and Adams streets. For years he has been known as an active worker in Ninth ward and west side politics, taking a leading part in all movements of the Democratic party. Ten years ago he was elected to represent the Ninth ward in the board of aldermen, and was re-elected last spring. He is a man 41 years old and has a wife and ten children.

DEATH, THE REAPER

Who Has All Seasons for His Harvest, Claims His Tribute

From Among Those Who Have Left Their Impress on the Times—Cyrus Hall McCormick and Charles O'Conor Called.

CHICAGO, May 14.—The Hon. C. H. McCormick peacefully passed away at his residence in this city Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock in the 75th year of his age. Although troubled for some time past with rheumatic affections, he enjoyed otherwise reasonably good health and the full possession of all his mental faculties in a remarkable degree. A few days ago, however, the strong physical constitution which carried Mr. McCormick so successfully through an eventful life showed symptoms of giving way. He rapidly grew worse, and last Sunday, feeling that the end was near, he called his wife and children around him and bestowed on them his blessing. Soon afterwards he became unconscious. His last words were: "It's all right; it's all right; I only want Heaven."

Cyrus Hall McCormick, the inventor of the reaping-machine, was born in Virginia in 1809, of parents both of whom were of Scotch-Irish descent. His father, Robert McCormick, was a farmer, owning several farms, with saw and grist mills, and having shops for blacksmithing, carpentering, machinery, etc., in which the genius of young McCormick early found scope for exercise and experiment.

Born on a farm and inheriting an inventive turn of mind, Mr. McCormick early saw the need in which agriculture stood of labor-saving appliances, and, when only 15 years of age, gave evidence of his future career by constructing a grain cradle which he himself used in the harvest field. His next step in the improvement of agricultural machinery was the invention of a "hill-side" plow, patented in 1831, for throwing alternate furrows on the lower side, being thus a right or left-hand plow. Two years later Mr. McCormick invented a superior, horizontal, self-sharpening plow, which did excellent work on level as well as on hilly ground.

In 1831 Mr. McCormick invented the machine which has proved such a blessing to mankind and carried his name throughout all the ends of the earth. For several years Mr. McCormick contented himself with experimenting with his machine, during which time its value was demonstrated by frequent use in the field, and various improvements were made in the details of its construction. The first patent was issued to Mr. McCormick in 1834. In 1837 Mr. McCormick went into the iron smelting business, but met with reverses, and thereafter concentrated his energies on his machine, which was placed on the market in 1840. In 1845 Mr. McCormick removed to Cincinnati, and in the same year took out patents on several improvements which he had made in his reaper. Two years later he removed to Chicago. It was not until about the time of the expiration of his patents, however, that Mr. McCormick had got the manufacture of his then famous reapers under full headway.

Unlike most inventors, Mr. McCormick had the business tact and shrewdness to profit by his own invention. Since 1849 he has manufactured and sold his own machines, and, in spite of the keenest opposition by rival companies, his business has more than kept pace with the rapid development of the country.

Though strict in his ideas of business methods, he was just, considerate, and kind; a Presbyterian in faith, a liberal giver, and a public-spirited citizen. He was a Democrat in politics, and occupied a high position in the councils of his party, at different times having been actively engaged in its management.

Mr. McCormick leaves behind him a loving wife, two daughters, and three sons to mourn their loss. Two of the sons are mere lads, but the eldest, Cyrus H. McCormick, Jr., has had the executive department of the business of the McCormick Harvesting Machine company under his control more and more for years past. All the business interests of the deceased, as well as those of the great corporation established by him, and of which he was up to the time of his death the president, will move on in the same channels as heretofore, without a jar or change.

Charles O'Conor Passes Away.

NANTUCKET, Mass., May 14.—The death of Charles O'Conor, which had been looked for at any moment in the past three or four days, took place late Monday afternoon. He was conscious to the last.

The deceased was born at New York in 1804. He did not receive the benefit of a university training, being educated at a common school. At 20 he was admitted to the bar, and was looked upon as a rising legal light before he was 30. Among the important cases undertaken by him during his life-time were the Mason will case and the great Forrest divorce case. He married one of his clients, a widow, but had no children, and subsequently he and his wife separated, owing to religious differences. Mr. O'Conor was a Democrat in politics. He died worth about $1,000,000, which he accumulated principally by his practice, but augmented by well-advised transactions in real estate.

Among the last acts of the late Charles O'Conor was to pay the town debt of Nantucket, but his aversion to public notice was so great that the business was done through the firm of E. W. Perry & Co., who were under the strictest injunctions not to tell who the donor was; certainly not before the next annual meeting in 1885. His death has removed the bar to secrecy. Recently Mr. O'Conor went to New York to consult Dr. Keyes, his physician, and probably learned his physical condition, for on his return various additions were made to his will and various gifts were made, among which was the gift to the town.

His two nephews, Dr. Sloane and T. O'Conor Sloane, of New York, and Miss Melainy, his adopted daughter, will doubtless inherit the bulk of his property, his fine library going to Dr. Sloane, who is a lawyer of great merit in New York.

Barnum's First Choice.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—Hon. William H. Barnum, chairman of the Democratic national committee, now in Washington, in an interview said, his first choice for standard bearers for the Democrats in the coming campaign, was "the old ticket," Tilden and Hendricks. This he thinks the strongest ticket the party can nominate. Should Mr. Tilden decline, Mr. Flower, of New York, in the opinion of Mr. Barnum, is the strongest man, and can carry New York by 60,000, and New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, and probably Ohio. After Flower, Mr. Barnum thinks Mr. Randall the best man, "by all odds." While expressing this individual opinion as to the relative strength of individuals, Mr. Barnum, when asked who he favored, replied: "The nominee."

CAPTURED BY A MOB.

Exciting Time at a Baltimore Brick-Yard—Several Men Shot.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—While Robert Campbell, colored, was working in a brick-yard, Charles Sisco, also colored, who was jealous of Campbell, stole up behind him and shot him twice, in the breast and arm. A number of white and colored men ran toward Sisco to arrest him, when he warned them not to approach him, and started off on a run, followed by the crowd, stopping every now and then to shoot at his pursuers. He succeeded in bringing one of the number, Christian Kramer, to the ground, shot through the head and wrist. Finally James Johnson, colored, came up and grappled with him, when the desperate negro shot Johnson through the shoulder, a second shot taking effect in Johnson's abdomen, which will prove fatal. The crowd then closed in on Sisco and beat and kicked him to insensibility. His injuries will likely prove fatal.

Going to Indorse Arthur.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The following is published here, together with several hundred other signatures:

TO MESSRS. JOHN JACOB ASTOR, LE GRAND B. CANNON, JOHN A. STEWART, JACOB D. VERMILYE, CORNELIUS N. BLISS, BENJAMIN H. BRISTOW, CORNELIUS R. AGNEW, M. D.—GENTLEMEN: The undersigned respectfully request you to act as a committee to designate the time and place at which the fellow-citizens of President Arthur may express their approval of his administration, and their wish that he may be nominated for president at the Republican national convention. It is believed there is a widespread feeling among those who manage and control the great interests which center here and involve the prosperity of the whole country. It is fitting that such sentiments should find means of public expression, both for the welfare of the country and in justice to a good president.

The documents is signed by:

H. B. Claflin & Co., E. S. Jaffray & Co., Sam Sloan, Lewis Bros. & Co., David Dows, Josiah M. Fiske, Charles G. Landon & Co., Bliss, Fabyan & Co., E. H. Perkins, Jr., president of the Importers' & Traders' bank; William Jenkins, president of the Bank of America; Johnston Livingston, E. S. Tefft, Tiffany & Co., F. S. Winston, F. D. Tappan, John E. Parsons, Jesse Seligman, D. B. Hatch, J. H. Herrick, Leonard Hazeltine, and several hundred others.

Questions That Trouble Wall Street.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The marked distrust apparent on all sides in Wall street with regard to stocks and bonds will take a long time to clear away in the face of the several elements of doubt which beset speculation and which, in themselves, are factors that tend to have a depressing effect. It is doubtful whether the Erie company will be able to pay the June dividend on its second income bonds; whether the Wabash general mortgage bondholders will accept preferred stock for their bonds; whether the Union and Central Pacific will pay any dividend this year; whether the West Shore road will go into the hands of a receiver and the bondholders be compelled to accept stock for their bonds; and last, but by no means least, whether the trunk line pool will patch up any kind of agreement that will hold for a year. Liquidation continues the order of the day in the stock market, and the outpour of stock shows no falling off.

New Jersey Democracy.

TRENTON, N. J., May 14.—It was reported that Senator McPherson had concluded to remain at home and allow Governor Abbett to represent him at the Chicago convention. Later, however, the plans were changed, and Senator McPherson will appear before the state convention and be sent as delegate-at-large. A prominent Democrat said: "The sentiment of the convention will unquestionably be for Tilden and Hendricks. I doubt very much that the delegates will be instructed, but they will vote for the old ticket if it is in the field. I understand, however, that information will be furnished the convention that Tilden will not run, in which case Randall and McPherson will be the choice of the convention. But it is Senator McPherson's desire that the delegates shall go unpledged. A platform has been prepared which contains a strong protection plank."

Henry George Discusses Stealing.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Henry George gave his first lecture since his return from Europe, at the Academy of Music Tuesday evening. The subject selected by the lecturer was "The Eighth Commandment." In the course of his discourse Mr. George said "Thou shalt not steal" was the golden rule of national prosperity. Men who steal watches and pocket-handkerchiefs, he said, stood a good chance of going to the penitentiary, while a man that steals a railroad stands a good chance of becoming a millionaire. The attendance was not large, the building being only about one-third filled.

Receiver Appointed.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—Comptroller Cannon has appointed Walter S. Johnston receiver to settle the affairs of the Marine National bank of New York. The comptroller has not yet received a detailed report from Bank Examiner Scriba; but on receipt of a preliminary statement from him, became satisfied of the insolvency of the bank and hence the appointment of Receiver Johnston. The appointment was made after carefully considering all matters pertaining to the failure of the bank.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Hoyt Sherman, of Des Moines, in receiving his discharge as assignee of B. F. Allen, reports having collected $473,002.

The house committee on elections voted in favor of seating English in place of Peelle from the Seventh district of Indiana.

Tully R. Wise, a prominent attorney of San Francisco, and A. K. Philleo, one of the pioneer citizens of Rock Island are dead.

David E. Harbaugh, for many years revenue collector and police justice at Detroit, died in the insane asylum at Pontiac, aged 76 years.

The merchants' exchange of St. Louis has voted not to receive market quotations from the Chicago board of trade under the restrictions imposed.

The elevated short route railway along the river front at Louisville, built by C. P. Huntington at a cost of $1,000,000 has been formally opened.

Hail fell to the depth of three inches in the immediate vicinity of Fort Madison, Iowa, during Monday night, wrecking windows and destroying leaves.

The roof of a tunnel under the Allegheny mountains at Dexter's gap caved in because of quicksand. Two men were killed and three others were seriously injured.

Within the past week a woman and a child in Pittsburg have lost their lives by the blunders of drug clerks. One of the latter has been held for murder; the other lies fatally ill.

A colored porter in Chicago went to a gambling-house in the evening to get change for a $50 bill, and was given ten notes of $500 each. When he returned to have the mistake corrected, he was not even thanked.

At a sale of thoroughbred yearlings in Bourbon county, Kentucky, thirteen averaged $1,502, and seventeen were sold for $22,035. Dwyer Brothers paid $3,500 for a sister to Barnes and $3,200 for a sister to Buxton.

Cablegrams report that Woolwich arsenal narrowly escaped destruction by dynamite, as detonators and explosives were found under the wall. The authorities at Dublin have been warned that attempts will be made to destroy the Nelson column.

At Bloomington, Ills., Christopher Epple attempted to take the life of his wife, but a policeman arrived in time to rescue her. Epple then killed himself with a razor. He had quite recently made murderous attacks on his brother and brother-in-law.

Two swindlers have been canvassing for insurance in Fountain and Warren counties, Indiana, securing a bankable note at the bottom of each application. On Saturday they sold $700 of these notes to a bank at Attica, stole a horse and buggy, and disappeared.

Willard's hotel in Washington took fire Tuesday morning in the basement, creating quite a panic among the guests; many of whom were taken out by ladders. No lives were lost, and the flames were extinguished after damage to the amount of $15,000 had been done.

The Chicago call-board, which has distributed among its members dividends amounting to $50,000, held its annual meeting Tuesday and voted to dissolve. The open board of trade elected W. D. French president, and the produce exchange chose E. S. Watts as its exective officer.

About 100 sporting characters went from Omaha to Clear Creek, by special train, to witness a fight for $200 between James Fell and Jack Hanley. Twenty-two rounds were contested, Fell being the winner on a claim of foul. On the return trip there was a general exchange of shots in the cars, three men being seriously wounded.

Thomas C. Bradshaw, a cutter in Boston, has been living apart from his family. Early Tuesday morning his son entered his lodgings and asked for money to buy groceries for Mrs. Bradshaw and the children. In a quarrel which instantly commenced, the young man shot his father through the heart and then surrendered himself to the police.

John F. Slater's Will.

NORWICH, Conn., May 14.—The will of the late John F. Slater has been probated. The executors are his son, William A. Slater, of Norwich, and A. A. Young, of Jewell City. He bequeaths $200,000 to Francis Bartlett, of Boston, his son-in-law, and $1,000,000 to him in trust for his daughter, aged 10 years. Mrs. Bartlett had been dead for 9 years. In the event that his daughter should die without issue, $300,000 of the trust funds is bequeathed to Mr. Bartlett and the remaining $700,000 reverts to Mr. Slater's heirs at law. The residue of the estate is left to W. A. Slater. There is nothing in the document which indicates the value of the estate, but it is undoubtedly over $10,000,000.

A Remarkable Escape.

Mrs. Mary A. Dailey, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was afflicted for six years with Asthma and Bronchitis, during which time the best physician could give no relief. Her life was despaired of, until in last October she procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, when immediate relief was felt, and by continuing its use for a short time she was completely cured, gaining in flesh 50 pounds in a few months.

Free trial bottles of this certain cure of all throat and lung diseases at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store. Large bottles $1.00.

How to Shorten Life.

The receipt is simple. You have only to take a violent cold, and neglect it. Abernethy, the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough: "What would you have? The plague." Beware of "only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM for the LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

TWO MILLIONS MORE.

That Much of a Deficit Reported in a New York Bank.

"Irregularities" in the Management of the Second National Result in the Resignation of the President—Rumors.

NEW YORK, May 14.—It is learned that the resignation of John C. Eno of the presidency of the Second National bank was the result of certain irregularities in the management of the bank, the exact nature of which has thus far been concealed. The irregularities were of such a nature as to involve the payment to the bank of a considerable amount by his friends, or rather by his father, Mr. Amos R. Eno. It was hoped to avoid publicity in the matter, but the turn taken by other affairs of Mr. Eno rendered it impossible to do so. A meeting of the directors of the bank was held at the house of Isaac N. Phelps. All the directors were present except Mr. A. B. Darling, who is in Europe. Mr. Amos F. Eno, son of the president of the bank, said the meeting was called to discuss the affairs of the bank. The possibility was that a committee to investigate the condition of the bank would be appointed. The directors refused to talk. At 12 o'clock this statement was given to the reporters who were waiting outside: "The board of directors of the Second National bank take pleasure in informing the public that whatever loss has been incurred has been made up, that its capital is intact, and the bank is prepared to meet its obligations."

Mr. Walter Phelps, who is a large stockholder in the bank, was asked what the losses were, and who were responsible for them! He answered: "No more information will be given by the gentlemen here now." It was said at John C. Eno's residence, at 26 Park avenue, that Mr. Eno was out of town for the night. The net deposits of the bank last Saturday were $4,180,000. Its loans were $3,705,000 and it had in its vaults $656,000 in specie and $330,000 in legal tenders. While the amount of the deficit is not stated, it is described as very considerable, and gossips of the Windsor hotel got it up to seven figures.

Mr. Isaac N. Phelps, at whose house the meeting of directors was held, said: "I am afraid the rumors are true. I am not a director. They keep my name on the list, but I am only a stockholder now. I heard the report and it startled me like thunder out of a clear sky. I am an invalid, and I can not go out, and the directors have decided to meet here. At the meeting my information as to the position of the bank may be modified to some extent, but I think it will not be. I do not think that the deficit will be less than $2,000,000. It is the old story, I am sorry to say—the president of the bank, who is a young man, has been using the money for speculation in Wall street, I am afraid, with very sad consequences to all concerned." "Will the bank suspend payment, do you think?" the reporter asked. "That I expect the directors may decide to-night. I should think they would agree to go on. There ought not to be any difficulty about it. The father of Mr. Eno, the president of the bank, is worth $20,000,000, and if there is any deficiency made by his son, I think he will be found ready to make it up. The directors are all wealthy men, and I don't think they will allow the institution to go down."

The board of directors of the Second National bank held a meeting at the bank. After several hours' session the following announcement was made:

The board of directors of the Second National bank take pleasure in informing the public that whatever loss has been incurred has been made good; that the capital is intact, and the bank prepared to meet its obligations on demand. O. D. ROBERTS, Cashier.

It is also learned that John C. Eno, president, resigned, and James A. Towbridge has been appointed in his place.

Fred Grant on Ward.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Col. Fred Grant said in an interview with a reporter: "When I first came to this city from Chicago I had about $57,000. I was introduced to Mr. Ward, and after a short acquaintance he asked me to join him in a speculative venture, which turned out successful. After that he proposed a partnership, and eventually my brother and myself entered into a partnership agreement. It was represented that Ward and Fish were worth $350,000 each. Ward had charge of the books and safe of the firm, and, in fact, everything was entrusted to him by the other members of the firm." Col. Grant closed with this remark: "I admit I have been a fool; so has my father, the general, and my brother, and there is nothing too strong to say against Ward at this moment."

The Stillwater Troubles.

STILLWATER, Minn., May 14.—There are no particularly new or startling developments in the unhappy financial situation here. It is generally accepted that the worst, for the present at least, so far as Stillwater is concerned, is now known. Three of the city's leading industries are already in the hands of receivers. They may be named as follows: The Northwestern Manufacturing & Car company, the Union Transfer company, and Seymour, Sabin & Co. The step was taken on the part of Seymour, Sabin & Co., when J. C. O'Gorman was appointed. His bonds are $15,000, with Martin Mower, E. W. Durant, Fayette Marsh, and A. T. Jenks as sureties. The liabilities and assets of the company are unattainable, the amounts on either side not even being hinted at.

The African Methodists.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—At the session of the African M. E. church, Mrs. Dr. Jasper Carey Thomas and Mrs. F. E. W. Harper, of the Women's Christian Temperance union, were introduced. Mrs. Harper made an address favoring the temperance cause, and urging the conference to use every effort in the work. Resolutions on the death of Wendell Phillips were taken up and adopted.

Rev. T. H. Jackson created quite a furore by offering a resolution touching upon the dogma of apostolic succession, and providing that any bishop preaching apostolic doctrines shall be liable to expulsion and dismissal from the African Methodist Episcopal church. The resolutions were referred to the committee on Episcopacy.

The Cincinnati Indictments.

CINCINNATI, May 14.—Foreman Shaw of the Berner jury has been arraigned before Judge Johnston, charged with perjury at the time he was examined as to his competency to serve on the jury. He was bound over in the sum of $2,000. William Hart, indicted for setting fire to the court house, pleaded not guilty. Judge Johnston fixed his bail at $5,000. This was given and Hart was released.

WASHINGTON CITY AFFAIRS.

Amending the Thurman Act—Retiring Gen. Grant—Capital Nuggets.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—The report of the minority of the Pacific railroads committee on the bill to amend the Thurman act has been submitted to the house together with a bill as a substitute to that proposed by the majority of the committee. It is said that while but four members of the committee signed the report accompanying the minority bill a majority will support it in preference to the bill formerly reported. The following is a recapitulation of the minority bill (so-called):

First, it provides for a general and final adjustment of indebtedness of the companies to the government.

Second, extends payment of the last installment of indebtedness forty-six years, which is an average extension of the whole debt for twenty-three years.

Third, requires the company to deposit with the secretary of the treasury bonds in specific sums, to be taken up and liquidated semi-annually.

Fourth, requires that no money shall be paid by the government for transportation or service of any kind, over the aided or non-aided roads, until the bond next maturing shall have been fully paid.

Fifth, extends the statutory lien and security over all roads owned or operated, or hereafter acquired, no matter where situated by the companies, including telegraph lines, franchises, rolling-stock, and property of every kind and description, to remain as security for the bonds of redemption until all are paid, embracing more than 500 miles of road not now held as security by the government.

Sixth, provides that either of the companies may prepay and discharge debt in full at any time, and as an inducement therefor allows an abatement of 3 per cent. per annum in interest.

Seventh, that the roads and telegraph lines shall at all times be at the service of the government at rates as low as the lowest accorded to any individual for like service.

Eighth, that by the acceptance of the act by the companies, all constitutional questions shall be waived.

Ninth, that failure for six months to pay any of the redemption bonds at maturity, shall render all of the bonds due and payable.

Tenth, that the companies shall accept the act on or before Oct. 1, 1884.

Eleventh, that in the event of the companies failing to accept the provisions of the act the Thurman sinking fund act shall remain in full force and effect as to all of the aided roads, including the three lines not hitherto embraced therein, with the percentage increased from 25 to 35 per cent.

Twelfth, that in case the Thurman act is continued the secretary's power of investment of the fund shall be enlarged.

Proceedings in Congress.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—The senate, by unanimous vote, passed a bill to place Gen. Grant on the retired list with full rank and pay. Majority and minority reports were made on the bill to pension Gen. Ward B. Burnet, and Sherman presented a petition to put Gen. Fremont on the retired list. A communication from the secretary of war asked an appropriation of $20,000 to repair Jacksonville barracks, at New Orleans. Logan gave notice that when the Mexican pension bill comes up he will move to strike out the amendment providing that no one shall have the benefit thereof unless unable to make a living. Vance called up his resolution to appropriate $30,000 for a monument to Sir Walter Raleigh on Roanoke Island, and it was referred to the committee on library. A conference committee was appointed on the shipping bill. The Indian appropriation bill was completed and passed.

The house of representatives passed the senate bill providing for civil government in Alaska, as also a measure making the legislature of Dakota consist of twenty-four members of the council and forty-eight members of the house. The Townshend bill, providing that no territory shall apply for admission to the Union until it has population sufficient for congressional representation, was laid on the table.

Frye Gains His Point.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—When Mr. Beck's appeal against the ruling of the chair on Frye's motion to appoint a conference committee came up in the senate, Beck said he would withdraw the appeal as the journal did not put his motion as made. Bayard and Sherman opposed the motion for a conference.

Mr. Frye defended his motion on parliamentary grounds, and quoted precedents to show that it proposed no unusual action. The shipping bill he said was a very important measure. It was the result of four years hard work. It removed every burden subsisting by law from the merchant marine. The only points of difference between the senate and the house were in relation to free ships and the bounty clause. If the bill went to the house without a request for a conference, a single objection could send it to the committee of the whole, with 130 bills on top of it, and it would be just as dead as if the senate had indefinitely postponed it.

The motion was then agreed to; yeas, 28; nays, 17.

In announcing his pair with Mr. Morrill, Mr. Cockrell said this was the first day in a service of twenty-nine years that the Vermont senator had been absent from the senate.

More of Walsh's Testimony.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—John A. Walsh testified before the Springer committee that he could not give testimony against Brady and Price without testifying against Kellogg; that it would be playing Hamlet and leaving the character of Hamlet out to do so. He acknowledged that he did not expose himself to the government's representatives so that subpoenas could be served on him in New York, and justified his action in evading the government's processes by saying that the government had refused to protect him against the libels of star-route newspapers. When he returned here last month from Canada to testify against Kellogg in the courts, he said the attorney general apologized for his treatment of him (witness); said he had been prejudiced against him by the studied and peculiar efforts of George Bliss. In reply to inquiry by the chairman, Mr. Walsh said he would like to demolish some of the testimony of Bliss before the committee.

The Swaim Inquiry.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14.—The session of the Swaim court of inquiry was devoted entirely to Gen. Swaim's examination, the direct examination being completed and the cross-examination began without any material new points being developed. On cross-examination, Gen. Swaim admitted that he was unable to understand his stock transactions with Mr. Bateman well enough to know whether Bateman now owed him anything or not, and that when he endeavored to negotiate the due-bill he believed, but did not positively know, that something was due him from Bateman. His cross-examination will be continued.

"Modern Advancement."

Our attention has been lately drawn, by personal experience, to Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure for coughs, colds and consumption, and all throat and lung diseases. It is a scientific compound of rare merit, the production of the researches of an eminent physician and two practical chemists of laboratory experience of fifty years. It is an unequaled modern production.—Exchange. Trial bottles free of Stearns & Baker.

The Old Reliable Insurance HEADQUARTERS.

We Represent THIRTY SOUND COMPANIES, being the largest agency in the Northwest. Among our companies are The Oldest, the Strongest in America, England, or in the World. They are truly TIME TRIED AND FIRE TESTED. Many of these Companies have been through all the terrible conflagrations of the last FIFTY OR ONE HUNDRED YEARS—the great fires of London, of New York, of Portland, of St. Louis, of St. Johns, of Boston and Chicago, and have always paid one hundred cents on the dollar and are now as SOLID AS THE ROCKS, after paying millions upon millions to their patrons. Between three and four hundred Insurance Companies in this country have gone to the wall—either failed outright or re-insured their risks and retired from the field since 1870, and more of the weaklings will go year by year. The one hundred millions of dollars annually destroyed by fire in this country is sure to bankrupt them. Our rates are as low as other responsible companies. All honest losses fairly and promptly adjusted and paid. The best is the cheapest DIMOCK & HAYNER'S Fire, Life, Accident and Tornado Insurance and Real Estate Agency, next door East of Rock Co. THE BADGER STOVE COMPANY

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE TRADE OF THE

Badger Cooking Stoves and Ranges,

Under the Griswold & Holloway patents WILL BURN HARD COAL, SOFT COAL OR WOOD. These stoves have been THOROUGHLY TESTED, and their practibility IS FULLY ENDORSED by every one using them. We have now about thirty families using them in this city and vicinity, and refer by permission to each and every one in regard to them.

WHAT WE CLAIM FOR THEM.

FIRST—Novelty of Construction, being a radical departure from old principles and constructions. Nothing like it in the market.

SECOND—Ease of Management, whereby a continuous fire can be kept up as easily as in the best base burning parlor stoves.

THIRD—Rapid and uniform heating of oven and new system of ventilating same; also heating equally all inside holes for cooking purposes.

FOURTH—Economy in Feed, produced by conveying the products of combustion where most needed.

FIFTH—Durability. The Fire Pot being cylindrical, consequently being much stronger, and draft through same equalized.

SIXTH—Cleanliness. Having an extra large Ash Pan, entirely enclosed within walls of stove, and so arranged as to receive all refuse from grate

☞These Stoves and Ranges are now on sale in Janesville by John Griffiths, West Milwaukee St., or N. Griswold, 56 North Main Street.

Don't miss examining these Stoves and Ranges, before buying any other, and if on examination the Badgers fail to please, you will find A FULL LINE OF OTHER STOVES at the same places at reduced prices. apr25d6m

Right to the point

The Rev. J. E. Searles, of New York, is one of the most widely-known and highly esteemed of Methodist ministers.

Mr. Searles says: "I am impressed that it is a duty I owe to those afflicted with Rheumatism or Neuralgia, to say that a remedy has been discovered that is indeed a marvelous success. My son was greatly afflicted with Rheumatism, and suffered so severely that, at times, he was obliged to have morphine injected into his arm to get relief. While in this condition he discovered a remedy which effected immediate relief, and a permanent cure. He has since furnished it to many others with the same result. I have also furnished it to a number of persons suffering with Rheumatism, and the result has been immediate relief, and a permanent cure. Among others, I gave it to Rev. Wm. P. Corbit, pastor of the George St. M. E. Church, New Haven, Conn., who was suffering greatly with this terrible disease. I will give you his own words as written to my son, wishing him to publish the fact for the benefit of others suffering with the same disease."

What Mr. Corbit Says:

"New Haven, July 24, 1882.

"Mr. Searles: Dear Sir:—I wish to say for the benefit of all who are suffering with Inflammatory Rheumatism, that your medicine is infallible. I suffered for two months the most excruciating torture; lost 35 pounds of flesh, and was not out of my house for a month; I heard of your remedy, and was almost instantly relieved by it. If there is a specific for diseases of any kind, yours most certainly is for Inflammatory Rheumatism in its severest form.

"Yours most respectfully, WM. P. CORBIT,
"Pastor George St. M. E. Church, New Haven, Conn."

Such is ATHLOPHOROS—a thorough and efficient cure for the worst cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

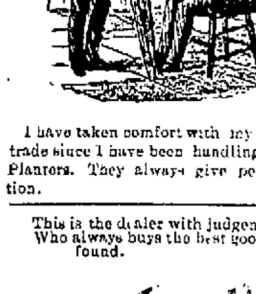
This is the jobber with air forlorn,
That bought the planters that wouldn't plant corn.

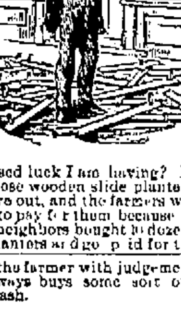
If I had bought Kent's Triumph corn planters I should have got my p y for them, instead of having all this mess returned and my trade ruined.
I will hereafter buy no planters but A. C. Kent's Triumph.

This is the jobber with air content,
Who buys his Corn Planters of A. C. Kent.



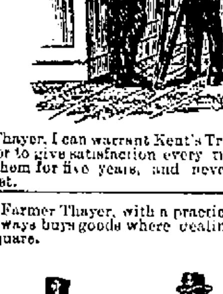
I have taken comfort with my Corn Planter trade since I have been handling Kent's Corn Planters. They always give perfect satisfaction.

This is the dealer with judgement poor,
Who says: Anything is good enough for the country boor.



What cussed luck I am having? I sold two dozen of those wooden slide planters and half of them gave out, and the farmers who have the rest refuse to pay for them because they are no good. My neighbors bought ½ dozen of Kent's Triumph planters and got p id for them all.

This is the dealer with judgement sound.
Who always buys the best goods that can be found.



Farmer Thayer, I can warrant Kent's Triumph corn planter to give satisfaction every time. I have sold them for five years, and never had one back yet.

This is the farmer with judgement rash.
That always buys some sort of worthless trash.

If I had taken farmer Thayer's advice and bought one of Kent's Triumph corn planters I should not have had all this grief.

This is Farmer Thayer, with a practical air
Who always buys goods where dealings are square.

I tell you sir, Kent's Triumph corn planters, with malleable iron slide and box bottom, is worth a dozen of the other kinds. They drop even, cover the corn well and never give out.

Send for a Sample of Kent's Corn Planter.

The are the best in the market and warranted to give satisfaction, ☞ When you order mention the Gazette.

What Struck an Old Soldier.

"It will soon be twenty years since the war closed,"

Under the hot sun of August, 1882, the village Dover, N. J., lay still as the sphinx in Egypt, while Elijah Sharp of that place, slowly and softly spoke of the past. "Yes," he said, "I was in the army and saw many of the sights of those fearful years. I was finally discharged from disability, resulting from sunstroke. I come home miserable in health and spirits; so enfeebled that I took cold on the slightest exposure. Life seemed worthless to me. I lived only in memory."

"That was sad enough," I said, dividing my last two cigars.

"That's so," responded Mr. Sharp: "but I got over it. Outgrew it? Not exactly. When in that condition I began taking Parker's Tonic and my breath commenced to improve right away. I was astonished at it and so was my wife. I piled on the flesh and could eat anything. My ambition blazed up. I could attend to business, and now—excepting that I have to take care about exposing myself to the hot sun—I am as well as I was the day I enlisted. What differences there are in things—guns and bayonets kill; Parker's Tonic saves."

This preparation which has been known as Parker's Ginger Tonic, will hereafter be known as Parker's Tonic. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There is no change however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of Parker's Ginger Tonic contain the genuine medicine if the fac simile signature of Hiscox & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

Pride Went Before a Fall.

[New York Sun.]

The capture of a thief under very exceptional circumstances is reported from Paris. He contrived to gain admission into a set of chambers during the absent of the lawful occupant, and proceeded to lay hands on everything of value he could find. In the midst of this operation it occurred to him that his ward robe was in urgent need of renewal, and he therefore took off his clothes with a view of replacing them by others he found in the room. Scarcely, however, had he reduced himself to the garb of primitive man when he heard a step outside, and promptly hid himself under the bed. Some one entered the room, and the thief lay noiseless for several minutes. At length the newcomer departed, and he ventured to leave his hiding place. But, much to his disgust, he discovered that the visitor had been a gentleman in his own way of business, for not only was everything in the chambers carried off, but even his own suit of clothes had disappeared! He was therefore compelled to await the return of the owner of the property, who handed him over to the police.

A Dance of Fat Women.

[Baltimore Herald.]

The most interesting feature of the fat ladies' ball, held at Schlegel's Orchestrion hall was the following announcement: "No ladies weighing less than 200 pounds will be allowed in the promenade." The order was strictly enforced by the committees, and when the orchestra began the march fully seventy-five couples formed into line, all the ladies weighing from 200 to 257 pounds. When the dancing was fairly under way the floors shook from the unusual amount of avoirdupois upon them, and it seemed torture for the fat ladies to whirl around the hall. The waltz was the most amusing dance. The fat ladies in selecting their partners would engage the smallest man they could find. In fact, they were so small that it was almost impossible to see them, as they spun around to the music of the orchestra. The programme, consisting of twenty-four dances, was not exhausted until a very late hour.

To Repair Damages.

Dear lady, there is probably no use telling you that fashionable life in a great city is a rough one on your beauty. Late hours, loss of sleep and mental excitement will leave you by and by shorn of those beautiful tresses which drew lovers around you in other years. Artificial substitutes can never pass for those rich and glossy looks. Parker's Hair Balsam will stop your hair falling out, restore its natural color and softness, and prove cleansing and beneficial to the scalp.

HEAT BY WHOLESALE.

Steam Heating To Be Followed by Lighting Power.

A Pleasant Chat with President Andrews—How Heat Is Conveyed Through the Streets of the City.

[New York World.]

Some time ago a great deal was said by the press of New York about "steam in the streets;" more recently all has been quiet on the subject. A reporter called on the president of the company, W. C. Andrews, at 22 Cortlandt street, and asked the pointed question:

"Is steam in the streets a success?"

"What do you think of it at The World office?" replied Mr. Andrews. "It does your work, does it not? It does all the work of steam at The Times, The Tribune, The Commercial Advertiser, and, in fact, all the newspapers but The Post and Herald. As soon as Mr. Bennett returns from Europe we shall supply The Herald. Then there is the new produce exchange, with nine elevators and no boilers on the premises; in the new building of the Mutual Life, on the old postoffice site, we have contracted for steam to heat their building, run six elevators and 1,500 electric lights; the Merchants' and Manhattan bank's new building in Wall street with no boilers, and so it goes. We are educating the public along the lines of our pipes that it is as unnecessary to have their own boilers as it is to have gas works on their premises."

"How many miles have you in operation?"

"About five miles of streets. The principal ones are Broadway, from Bowling Green to Chambers, Wall, Pine, Liberty, Maiden lane, John, Fulton, Ann, Park row, Cortlandt, Greenwich, Barclay, Park place and Warren streets, all under full pressure of eighty pounds to the square inch, to do any and all kinds of work. Our company is spoken of as a steam-heating company. This is a large part of our business, it is true, and it takes an enormous quantity of steam to heat these immense buildings down town, but the power business is the largest, our earnings being about two-thirds for power and one-third for heating."

"How many buildings are you now supplying with steam?"

"About two hundred and fifty. We are now laying pipes in Broad street to connect with the Stock Exchange and other buildings in the vicinity."

"What will be your largest class of individual business in this city?"

"Undoubtedly elevators. We expect land to become so valuable on this island that it will be economy to go high in the air with buildings, and they must all have elevators. In this respect the city is being rebuilt, and it is plain to see that demand for steam for this purpose alone will be almost without limit. It is not improbable that next to elevators will come electric lights. When the elevators stop after business hours we shall turn our steam on to electric lights. Thus you see, the elevators and machinery for general manufacturing purposes in the daytime and the newspapers, electric lights, hotels, theatres, club-houses, etc., at night. Why, we can afford to sell steam at night at half price. We expect to light this city before long.

"How will this be done?"

"The cost of the electric light is the cost of the steam power to generate it. After 6 o'clock the elevators stop and miscellaneous manufactures cease. What shall we then do with our steam? It is in some sense a waste of product. Of course we shall turn it on to the electric lights, and especially the small light, the incandescent light. We have no doubt this will be in a few years the popular light in all of our fine dwelling-houses. It is the best produced by man and the safest."

"What are your plans for a further extension of your street system of steam pipes?"

"We shall pipe Fifth avenue and Madison avenue this year from Madison square to Seventeenth street, the top of Lenox hill, taking in some and of course eventually all the lateral streets. We hope to get in several miles in the upper part of the city this year."

"When your pipes enter a building, a dwelling, for instance, what do you do?"

"We put on a regulating valve to regulate the pressure, and a meter to measure the quantity used. We wish to follow precisely in the footsteps of our neighbors, the gas companies. We then do the heating, cooking, laundering, etc., including electric lights by isolated plant, pumps and elevators; in fact, we do three times as much for the people as the gas companies, and make them three times as happy."

"Do you expect to charge three times as much?"

"Why should we not, if we do three times as much? However, that will take care of itself. The seller and the buyer must come together in everything?"

"Is it a success?"

"I must leave our patrons to answer that. They seem to be hungry for it and take it as fast as we can give it to them. We have been in operation twenty months and given it faster than any other company ever before in New York. It is a significant fact that none of our stock is lying around loose and that we have never lost a customer. Its service is perfect and we shall pipe the city."

From Every Point of the Compass.

CINCINNATI, May 14.—In announcing his decision to dissolve the injunction against Tony J. Mullane, of the Toledo Base Ball club, obtained by the St. Louis Athletic association, Judge Baxter said that he did not think the time of the courts should be occupied by base ball matters. Ball-playing was nothing which benefited the public in any way. It was not a business of any kind, merely a sport, which it was beneath the dignity of the courts to notice.

THE GREAT SKIN CURES

A Positive Cure for Every Form of Skin and Blood Disease, from Pimples to Scrofula.

THOUSANDS OF LETTERS in our possession repeat this story: I have been a terrible sufferer for years with Blood and Skin humors; have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors; have had the best physicians; have spent hundreds of dollars and got no real relief until I used the Cuticura Resolvent, the New Blood Purifier, internally, and and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, the great Skin Cure and Skin Beautifiers, externally, which have cured me and left my skin and blood as pure as a child's.

ALMOST INCREDIBLE.

JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans on oath says—In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times I could not lift my hands to head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of Cuticura Remedies, used them and was perfectly cured.

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

STILL MORE SO.

WILL McDONALD, 2542 Dearborn Street, Chicago, gratefully acknowledges the cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to move except on hands and knees, for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies. doctors pronounced the case hopeless, permanently cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

MORE WONDERFUL YET.

H. E. CARPENTER, Henderson, N. Y., cured of Psoriasis, or Leprosy, of twenty years standing, by Cuticura Remedies. The most wonderful cure on record. A dustpanful of scales fell from him daily. Physicians and his friends thought he must die. Cure sworn to before a justice of the peace and Henderson's most prominent citizens.

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

—:0:—

Dr. F. B. BREWER

Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to

PAPILLON SKIN CURE

Is a specific cure for Salt Rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Scaldhead, Tetter Hives, Dandruff, Pimples, Plant-Poisoning, Ringworm, Sunburn, and all diseases of the cutaneous system, by exudation and not by excretion, whereby every particle of disease is withdrawn from the system. Inordinate itching of the skin is allayed at once by bathing the parts.

For Piles, Wounds, Cuts, Ulcers or Sores, no remedy is so prompt in soothing and healing as Papillon Skin Cure. It does not smart or burn. Directions in ten languages accompany every bottle.

PAPILLON CATARRH CURE

Cures all diseases of the Nasal Organs, by insufflation, injection or by spraying, in children or adults. Cleanses the nostrils and permits natural breathing.

It is a specific cure for Cold in the Head—which is caused by sudden changes in the atmosphere—Snuffles, Sneezing, Watery Eyes and Pain in the Head.

Bronchial Catarrh, Acute or Chronic Catarrh, also Rose Cold, this remedy will permanently cure. It takes the front rank as a cure for Hay Fever, as many testimonials certify. It has been used several years successfully. Directions in ten languages accompany every bottle.

PAPILLON COUGH CURE

Can be administered to infants without the slightest danger. It does not contain drugs or chemicals, but is a harmless vegetable syrup, very delicious to the taste, that relieves and positively cures at once, and is a permanent cure for Bronchial or Winter Cough, Bronchitis and Pulmonary Catarrh. Directions in ten languages accompany every bottle.

Briefets.

—Royal Arcanum, Badger Council, assemble this evening.

—Several degrees warmer to-day than it was this date one year ago.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows hall this evening.

—Slight indications of an approaching thunder storm—so says the barometer.

—No business in the municipal court to-day—but there is an assault and battery case in prospect.

—Miss Eva Steele, of this city, a graduate of our high school, will teach this summer in Hanover.

—David Myers has put down a new plank sidewalk in front of his North Main street business property.

—The gas company is now engaged in laying a new service main on West Bluff street, first ward, from Academy street west.

—The members of the Grand Army will meet at Post headquarters to-morrow morning at 8:30 o'clock sharp, and march direct to St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock, to attend the funeral of the late Charles J. Fox.

—The business office of Mr. J. E. Chapman, the general agent of the McCormick harvesting machinery, in the Bennett block, is draped in mourning on account of the death of Mr. C. H. McCormick, the veteran reaper man.

—Mrs. A. R. Johnson, of Kansas City, is in the city visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Johnson, who, with her husband, resided in Janesville in ante war times, will be recollected by many of our people. Mr. Johnson, who was, perhaps, better known here as "Zieke" Johnson, is now in business in Kansas City, and is prospering.

—One of the finest droves of fat cattle ever seen in this city, passed through this morning from Johnstown. They were the property of Mr. Thomas H. Austin, and numbered 65 head. They were taken to the stock yards of the Northwestern company and shipped to Chicago. Mr. Austin brought up the rear of the herd in a buggy, and was looking as happy as could be over the fine prospect ahead of him. He is the the champion stock raiser of Rock county.

—The lecture at St. Patrick's church, this evening, by Rev. Father Cleary, of Kenosha, and under the auspices of the St. Patrick's T. A. & B. society, will be one of merit. Father Cleary is president of the Catholic State Temperance Union, and is a thorough worker in the cause. He possesses fine oratorical powers, and his lectures always draw large audiences. Do not allow such an opportunity to pass,—it will cost you nothing, and much benefit will be derived therefrom.

—This morning at four o'clock one of the fine imported Norman colts, recently imported from France, by Messrs. Bowles & Hadden, died from the effects of the injuries received in the railway smash-up at Kent, Ohio, May 4th. We learn from Mr. Bowles that this colt had its head badly jammed when the cars were thrown together, and this morning its face, nose and upper part of the head were found to be a mass of inflammation, caused by the jam. The colt was valued at two thousand dollars, and was one of the best imported at this time. The horse they left at Kent, injured by the same accident, was reported to be doing well at last accounts.

—Conductor Cannon, of the Northwestern road, upon reaching Afton last night from Beloit, found a new born baby on the rear platform of the last car of his train, the little waif being not over two or three hours old. It was taken in charge by the agent at Afton, Mr. J. R. Hittman, and word telegraphed back to Beloit concerning the find, the conductor being confident that it belonged in that city. Word was brought here today that Marshal North had sent to Afton for the little stranger, and that he had discovered the unnatural parents. We understand that there was considerable sympathy shown by the passengers on the train when Conductor Cannon brought the little waif into the car, and quite a little sum of money was raised for its care. Not knowing any of the particulars concerning its parentage or why its unnatural mother took this mode of covering her shame, we will not attempt to make a sensation, but leave it for friend Ayer, of the Beloit Free Press, to give the details, as it evidently belongs to his territory, if not to some citizen of Beloit.

Attention Citizens.

There will be a meeting of all citizens interested in the exercises of Memorial Day at the Grand Army Post assembly room on Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for the services of that day. It is hoped that there will be a full and prompt attendance. Ladies are especially requested to be present.

Ex-Speaker James W. Husted, of the New York Legislature, Makes a Few Remarks.

"You did not go to Florida for your cough and cold, as you proposed?"

"No! I found the necessary ozone and pine aroma in four Allcock's Porous Plasters, two on my back and two on my chest. I was quickly cured; they proved a perfect shield against pneumonia. These plasters also cured my son of rheumatism in the shoulder, which for months defied medical skill. I have found them very quick to cure and absolutely painless. In bruises no external remedies can be more effective."

"Allcock's" is the only genuine Porous Plaster; buy no other and you will not be cheated.

No other preparation meet the wants of the debilitated system as does Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Guards' Annual Inspection.

HEADQUARTERS JANESVILLE GUARDS, JANESVILLE, WIS., May 12, 1884.

Company Order No. 66:

Every member of the Janesville Guards is hereby ordered to be at the armory on Friday evening May 16th, at 8 o'clock. Every member having a dress uniform will appear in full dress, others in fatigue uniforms. The annual inspection of the company by the adjutant general will take place at the time and place above mentioned. JOSEPH B. DOE, JR.,
Capt. Commanding Company.
CHARLES E. CURTIS, O. S.

Young men, middle aged men and all men who suffer from early indiscretions will find Allen's Brain Food the most powerful invigorant ever introduced; once restored from it there is no relapse. OBITUARY.

L. ROSELTH CUTTS.

At her home on North Bluff street, second ward, at 9:30 o'clock last evening Miss L. Roselth Cutts breathed her last, and her soul was released to its maker. The deceased was the eldest daughter of Mr. A. K. and Mrs. E. A. W. Cutts, of this city, and was thirty-six years of age; she was a graduate of the Janesville commercial college, class of '69, under the professorship of Profs. Atkinson and Reed, and was a teacher in the city schools for several terms, during which time she gained the lasting friendship of her many pupils, who will now mourn with the bereaved parents and relatives, on account, of her early death. The deceased had been an invalid for the past ten years, and although all that medical aid could do was of no assistance to her, when the final and expected summons came she was ready to meet her reward. The funeral will take place at the house at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon, Rev. C. B. Wilcox, of Court Street M. E. church, conducting the service. The remains will be taken to Mount Pleasant cemetery, in the town of Janesville, for interment.

MATRIMONIAL.

PARKER-KINNEY.

There was a happy gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kinney, corner of High and Holmes streets, fourth ward, last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter Miss Minnie E. Kinney to Mr. B. J. Parker, of Tracy, Minnesota. The ceremony which made them husband and wife, was performed by Rev. C. M. Pullen, of Christ church, and was in accordance with the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church. The happy couple, at the conclusion of the ceremony, were the recipients of the heartiest congratulations of all present, and many handsome and useful presents were bestowed, many coming from distant relatives and friends. The party then partook of a bountiful wedding supper, and at 10.10 o'clock last night, Mr. and Mrs. Parker took their departure for their new home in Tracy, Minnesota, where Mr. Parker is employed as postal clerk in the U. S. mail service, running between Tracy and Pierre, Dakota. The best wishes of a host of Janesville friends follow the newly married couple to their new home.

Under The Wheels.

An accident occurred at Milton this morning, by which Mr. James Golden had his right leg badly injured. Conductor Dick Lee, who has charge of a gravel train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was at Milton, doing some switching. Mr. Golden was in the act of detaching some of the cars, when he accidentally stepped into a cattle guard, and before he could extricate himself the wheels were upon him, the wheels of one car passing over him before he could free himself. The wheels caught his right leg midway between the ankle and knee, making a terrible flesh wound, but singular as it may appear, only the small bone just above the ankle of the right leg was broken. The injured man was brought to this city on the return trip, and immediately taken to his home, No. 13 Washington street, and Dr. J. B. Whiting was called and attended to his injuries. While his injuries are severe enough for any one to endure, they are very slight when it is considered that the wheels of a car passed over him. It will be a long time before Mr. Golden will be able to use his injured leg.

Since writing the above we learn that the wheels did not pass over his leg, but the flange caught the muscles, breaking the small bone as above, and tearing the flesh away to a considerable extent. The right knee was also terribly bruised and the muscles torn away by being caught in the same manner. The left ankle was also badly bruised. Mr. Golden was only nineteen years old, and has only been employed as a brakeman about one week. He lives with his widowed mother on Washington street.

The Funeral of the Late Charles J. Fox.

At a special meeting of W. H. Sargent Post, held last evening, the following details were made to attend the funeral of the late Charles J. Fox, which will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, at St. Patrick's church:

Pall bearers—Comrades Chris. Yager, Patrick Riley, Edward Murphy, N. Gillespie, Jerome Howland and W. W. Wills.

Guard of Honor—Comrades C. J. Schottle, J. H. Bliss, E. H. Pelton, Peter Howland, Patrick Delaney, S. Van Buren, W. G. Metcalf and Charles N. Riker.

Color bearer—Comrade Henry Jarvis.

The members of the post will assemble at headquarters at 8:30 o'clock, a. m., sharp.

In The Small of His Back.

"Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters cured me of a dull, weary ache in the small of my back."—J. T. 25c.

The Hippodrome is Closed.

The following, from the Chicago Tribune, of to-day, will be of interest to many in this city, who are watching the daily market reports from that city: "At four minutes past 3 o'clock yesterday the Chicago call board formerally resolved to terminate its own existence after a generally prosperous career of about eight years. The vote to dissolve was an overwhelming one, despite the protests of a few who feared to take the step. The one 'primal cause' of the resolve to disband was the forcing some time ago of a call for grain upon men who did not want it, and believed the call to be unsuitable to the business of dealing in grain. Had the supporters of the call confined themselves to provisions, as at first, there would probably have been no deadly opposition to it, though even some traders in provisions objected to it. The call on grain grew to be unwieldly in its magnitude, and the protests became loud er, till even its father—B. P. Hutchinson, Esq.—admitted that it had outlived its usefulness. It is understood that the rooms of the call board will be kept open for afternoon trading in the up-stairs fashion till such times as the directors of the board of trade arrange for an afternoon session on 'change, or for a continuous session to terminate about 2 o'clock."

It is well known that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder has been made for many years without reducing its standard of perfect purity, and that there is not another baking powder in the market that can stand so good a test for effectiveness, healthfulness and freedom from injurious substances. The test is in the family biscuits in the oven.

A VALISE OVERBOARD.

How a Passenger Came to Earn the Prize of a Leather Medal.

[Boston Globe.]

"Well," said Conductor Jones to a reporter, "one of the funniest things that ever happened on my train occurred one day at Bethlehem. An old man whom I had noticed in the drawing-room car as a very lively and talkative traveler got off at that station. I was standing at an open window on the car just as the train was starting off, when whom should I see but the jolly old man rushing toward me from the outside. He pointed frantically to a window just back of me, exclaiming as well as he could while trying to catch his breath:

"My valise, left it—there—throw it—out."

Turning quickly, I saw a large black valise in the seat indicated, and, seizing it, rushed to the rear platform of the car where there was quite a number of gentlemen. Tossing it to one of the men, as they blocked the way so that I couldn't get through, I shouted:

"Throw it to the old man there."

Without a moment's hesitation the man did as directed. As the valise left his hand he made a ineffectual effort to regain possession of it, then, with a muttered exclamation which I couldn't comprehend, leaped from the train, seized the ill-fated baggage, and was just in time to board one of the rear cars. It was all done in an instant, although it takes time to tell the story. In a minute he made his way forward and angrily asked:

"What did you tell me to throw this valise off for?"

"Because the old man wanted it."

"Well, then, he's a thief. That valise is mine."

"Then," said I, laughing, for the whole situation seemed so perfectly ridiculous, "why under the sun did you throw it off at all? Didn't you know your own property?"

"Yes, but then it was all so sudden, and you told me to throw it, and——"

But the roar of laughter that greeted his explanation broke short his sentence and he was voted a leather medal by the passengers.

I was convinced there was some explanation for the old man's conduct, for I was personally acquainted with him and knew that he was as honest as the day was long. About three weeks after I saw him at the depot, and questioned him on the subject.

"I thought," said he, as his face grew round and red and his eyes twinkled with merriment, "I thought I should die to see that fellow hyper round after his valise and bustle on board the train again. I didn't expect to cause so much trouble."

"Well, where was your valise all the time?"

"Oh, the driver took it without my knowledge and put it on top of the stage. He's been carrying it round ever since, and I just got it this moment. Good day!"

JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

His Miles of Houses, Heavy Taxes and Charities.

Houses, Lots and Farms by the Thousand---A Point of Difference---Personal Appearance---Life at Home.

[New York Morning Journal.]

The third richest man in the Union is John Jacob Astor, the chief owner and heir of the Astor estate. Unlike many millionaires, Astor has both name and riches—a name linked with fabulous wealth for three succeeding generations. The estimated value of the Astor estate is from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000, a veritable mountain of gold. John Jacob and William B. are its sole owners, the former's interest said to be two-thirds.

For nearly a century the title of being "the landlords of New York" has attached itself to them. John Jacob's interests in houses, lots and farms may be computed in the thousands.

Among the valuable buildings principally owned by Mr. Astor as chief heir to the estate is the old landmark, the Astor house, which was sold to his father by his grandfather, the founder of the immense estate, for $1. Its present value is said to be $3,000,000, being assessed at $1,750,000. The Guarantee and Indemnity building, chiefly owned by Mr. Astor, was purchased a short time ago for $1,000,000, while the Astor estate pays taxes on $50,000,000 of real estate situated below Chambers street, most of which consists of business houses on Broadway and Wall street. There is scarcely a ward, street or avenue in the city in which Mr. Astor does not own real estate, on which the total amount of taxes is over $400,000 annually.

Another point of difference between Mr. Astor and other millionaires is in his investments. In Wall street his name never appears as a speculator and seldom as an investor or seller of stocks, bonds or other similar securities. Having an income of 10 per cent. on the gross amount invested in real estate, he quietly buys more houses or lands when opportunity for good investment offers. In an inventory made of his various properties an item of $6,000,000 in cash appeared, as "money in trust companies and banks waiting investment in real estate."

Mr. Astor is a man of striking personal appearance, being over six feet in height, stout, somewhat inclined to corpulence and straight as an arrow. When on the street his quick, elastic step and smiling face, fringed with small, gray side-whiskers, invariably attract attention. His dress is simple and surprisingly neat. At business or on the street he wears a broadcloth cut-away frock coat, with pants to match, comfortable looking shoes always highly polished, while in his hand usually swings as he walks a large, purple silk umbrella. In summer his costume is changed to a black serge coat and pants of some lighter color, while an easy straw hat rests lightly on his ivory-white hair.

Mr. Astor, though seldom speaking of himself, recently told a friend that although he had completed threescore years, he felt as well and hearty as he did at 40. Benevolence is his striking characteristic, one probably inherited from the founders of the Astor library. Many of his charities are published, though the actual amount of good done with his ever-ready check-book is little known. In nearly all the charitable institutions of this city the names of himself or wife, and often jointly, appear as large givers. During the winter months Mr. Astor is either at his office at 21 West Twenty-sixth street, or his home, at No. 338 Fifth avenue. The latter is familiar to nearly every resident of Fifth avenue, and is conspicuous for nothing but its plainness and the spacious grounds which surround it. It is built of fine moulded brick, with trimmings of brown stone, and has a double stairway leading to the front entrance. The interior compares favorably with any palace.

During the late illness of his wife, Mr. Astor's time was chiefly devoted to cheering her weary hours at the bed-side with the same untiring affection he has shown throughout the many years of his married life. His principal recreations are visits to his elegant country seat at Rheinecliffe-on-the-Hudson and yachting. The country seat is an ancient-looking establishment kept in the finest order and is a reminiscence of olden time. Well shaded with trees of every kind its immense lawns and gardens are traversed by long drives and walks.

Here, in the long days of the summer months, Mr. Astor sits on the cool piazza or under some shady tree and reads. He is having built one of the finest pleasure yachts yet launched in the waters of this country, the cost of which is placed at a trifle over $200,000. It will be completed early in the coming summer.

On the second Tuesday in April the 167th Grand Monthly Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery took place in New Orleans. Ticket No. 86,300 drew first capital prize of $75,000, and it was sold in fifths at $1 each; one was held by Elbert S. Montgomery, of Mt. Olivet, Ky., paid through First National bank of Maysville, Ky.; another to J. O'Brien, Richmond, Va., paid through Messrs Lancaster & Lucke. The second capital of $25,000 was drawn by No. 58,298, also sold in fifths at $1 each; one to Isadore Isaacs, a clothing store keeper in Modesto, Cal. The Third capital prize of $10,000 fell to ticket No. 25,338, sold in fifths also at $1 each; one to Norman Saunders, Washington City, D. C., another to Robt. J. Walker, of the same city. The Fourth Capital prizes, two of $6,000 each, went to Nos. 33,147 and 44,135, sold in fifths also at $1 each; one to B. T. Holmes, one to Jas. Fox, coal dealers both of Fort Wayne, Ind.; another to C. T. Deshields, Sherman, Texas, through the Merchants' and Planters' bank there. The grand extraordinary semi-annual (the 169th monthly) drawing will occur on Tuesday, the 17th day of June, when $522,500 will be scattered in sums from $150,000 to $50. Tickets are $10; tenths, $1, and any further information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

I am no land shark. I use no stool pigeons, or devices to deceive people into buying what they dont want.
I sell property on its merits.
I deal on the square and guarantee everything to be as represented.
If you want to buy or rent a cheap or expensive farm, large or small, a cheap or expensive house and lot, or business block, or want anything in the real estate line, I can supply your wants. Call on me and be convinced.
Safe rules to follow in buying real estate.
If when you are in the agents office talking of buying property, a fellow comes in and wants it, don't buy.
If when you are going with an agent to see property, you meet a fellow who wants that property, don't buy.
If you do you will find out to late that the fellow who wants to buy is the agent's stool pigeon, and that he and the agent have put up a job on you. In all cases you may be sure if the agent has a buyer, he will not fool away any time with you.
Before you buy real estate, convince yourself that you know what you are buying.
